

One of my favourite book is Doi Ngan Dung Ngu Dai. The writer of this book is Robin Sharma. This is a great book about appreciating life and constantly trying for the future.

In my opinion, the good point of the book is the content. The book teaches us how to be successful by working hard and never giving up in the face of difficulty. The book also gives us the message “ Success will come to you if you take more action and stop being lazy”.

However, I don't like color of the book and the way to decorate because it looks simple and doesn't attract the reader. So, I think if it is improved, it will become more beautiful and attractive.

On the whole, this is a good book for guys. If you have more freetime, you should read this book. I believe it will help you succeed in the future.
